

Mrs. Malcom's Newsletter

November 12-20

Upcoming Events:

- NO School—Wed. Nov. 21, Through Friday, Nov. 23. Thanksgiving break.
- Student led-conferences were a great success. Thank you to the students and parents that help in our learning environment.
- Lunch bunch has started and we are reading the book A Dog Called Kitty.

Reading: This week students will be reading the story "How to babysit and Orangutan". During the week students are getting a Tic-Tac-Toe assignment board. By the end of the week students will need to have five completed assignment handed in. They will have every class period to work on these assignments. Open book test on the story will be given Friday.

Science: Students are starting to learn about the Digestive system along with the major organs used in the system. Students will also learn what the purpose of the organ is. After learning about the digestive system the students will build their own digestive system and put it in their skeleton.

Language: Students will be continuing working on run-on sentences. Also this week they will be writing an opinion piece.

Math: Students will be investigating and develop strategies for multiplication that involve breaking apart numbers. Review facts through 12x12. Also, use arrays to break apart larger two by two digits. We then will begin looking into division and division with remainders. Also, how it is division related to multiplication.

Social Studies: We will begin with the Southeast Region. Students will use an atlas to answer questions. Also, SDSU students will be presenting Ag in the classroom.
